

I am a US citizen residing in Indiana. Our state has a list residents can have their phone numbers added to to prevent telemarketers from calling.

I am on the list and do not want the Federal Government writing a new law preempting State Law. The phone calls are so frequent that we do not answer our wire based phone calls. We average 10-15 of these calls every evening. If my family wants to purchase something, we will shop for it. We don not want these phone calls to continue.

Sincerely,

Thomas J. McArtor
